

Benefits of Full Membership include:

Campaign and Project Participation

ICLEI Members not only have the opportunity to participate in ICLEI's international campaigns and programs (Low emission, nature-based, equitable, resilient, and circular development) and international and regional projects but also enjoy the opportunity to play a role in the design and pilot phases of these campaigns and projects.

Publications, Tools, and Workshops-Free of Cost or Greatly Discounted

ICLEI produces diverse publications and tools to help Members with their work. ICLEI publications are free to ICLEI Members (Total value: approximately $1,700). ICLEI Members also have exclusive access, at no cost, to all ICLEI publications electronically via the Members-only area of ICLEI's website.

National and International Network of Peers

ICLEI members are part of a worldwide network of local government representatives that are tackling similar environmental management and sustainability challenges. They meet at workshops, seminars, and conferences around the world, and through electronic conferences on the website.

National and International Recognition for Work

Full Members earn national and international recognition for their work at both ICLEI conferences and through participation with ICLEI in numerous UN events (Conference of Parties [COP], Commission on Sustainable Development, etc).

Travel Funding to International Meetings

Funded international travel is provided to ICLEI Members as available. ICLEI Member cities who met certain criteria, will receive either full or partial travel funding to participate in meetings.

Grant Opportunities

ICLEI is often made aware of funding opportunities and seeks to direct funders to Members, and Members to funders, where there is a match.
